FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

ARBOR HOSPICE ANNOUNCES NEW OFFICERS OF THEIR BOARD OF DIRECTORS

ANN ARBOR, Mich. – April 17, 2008– Patricia A. Warner and Janet Callaway, both active hospice advocates, were recently elected to leadership positions of Arbor Hospice’s Board of Directors. Warner has taken on the role of Vice Chair/Chair Elect and Callaway the role of Secretary.

“We at Arbor Hospice are looking forward to our continued relationship with Patricia and Janet. They have proven to be instrumental board members and our agency continues to benefit from their leadership and expertise,” said Gloria Danna Brooks, President & CEO of Arbor Hospice.

Warner is currently Associate Hospital Director for the University of Michigan Hospitals and Health Centers and the Chief Administrative Officer for C.S. Mott Children’s and Women’s Hospitals. She has been a member of Arbor Hospice’s Board of Directors since 2000. Warner’s additional community and public service includes: Adjunct Assistant Professor of Health Administration at Eastern Michigan University, Breakfast Program for the Homeless, Health Administration Advisory Board of Eastern Michigan University and many others.

Janet Callaway utilizes her varied skills as an external consultant, facilitator and trainer. Callaway spent 20 years in public education in Ann Arbor as a teacher, administrator and principal. Additionally, Callaway was a professional cellist for 10 years and has served as Director of Religious Education at the First United Unitarian Church, Visiting Lecturer at The University of Michigan and Eastern Michigan University, and Board Chair of Family Group Homes for Youth/Huron Services for Youth, among many other activities.
